

For the past several years, Barnes Distribution has served our dealer network with excellent service and consistent pricing. Due to changing costs and market based fluctuations from their suppliers, Barnes Distribution has announced a pricing update effective March 1, 2011. Barnes Distribution's new pricing will reflect a majority of items that will increase in price, however, some items have also decreased in price. Now is the time to review your requirements, and take the opportunity to place appropriate orders on the products you need at the current price.

Your Barnes Distribution Representative can guide you through making the best selection on items to maximize your buying power. They are your resource for quotes at current and future pricing. Your Barnes Distribution Representative can also audit your current inventory, and allow returns on any obsolete or excess inventory. Barnes will give fair market value credit for inventory deemed obsolete or overstocked due to changing business conditions.

Barnes Distribution remains committed to bringing you the best products from the best suppliers with unparalleled service. Please contact your Barnes Representative today to make the most of your MRO budget!
